

MANSFIELD MIRROR

VOLUME 7

MANSFIELD, WRIGHT COUNTY, MISSOURI, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1915

NUMBER 39

Mirrorettes

Sale bills at this office.
Old papers for sale at this office.
Cash Store for Bargains—Adv.
John Coday was in Norwood Saturday.
Bazar and Chicken Pie Dinner Nov. 20 at G. A. R. Hall. See ad.—Adv.
The M. E. Ladies' Aid Society met with Mrs. J. D. Reynolds Friday afternoon.
J. D. Reynolds has just received a nobby line of Men's Overcoats and Caps.—Adv.
A band of fortune telling Gypsies, with a bear and a bob cat, were here this week.
Buy your Christmas Presents at the Bazar at the G. A. R. Hall Saturday, Nov. 20.—Adv.
Go to J. D. Reynolds and buy a John Deere Wagon and Buggy—they will please you.—Adv.
Union revival services are being planned to be held in the M. E. church. Particulars later.
The O. E. S. of Mansfield is preparing to put on degree work for the Seymour chapter this week.
D. N. Moore is suffering from a severe case of blood poisoning caused by a scratch on the hand.
FOR SALE OR TRADE—Stock of general merchandise Address Box 174, Mansfield, Mo.—Adv.

Rolla is preparing to entertain 1000 teachers at the South Central Missouri Teachers' Association Nov. 25—27.

Still plenty of Bargains in all departments at the Cash Mercantile Co., the most of the best for the least.—Adv.

16th Annual Bazar and Chicken Pie Dinner by the M. E. Ladies' Aid Society at G. A. R. Hall Saturday, Nov. 20.—Adv.

Robert Erb of Oden, son of Col. Erb of Cedar Gap, and Miss Carrie Chapin of West Plains, were married last week.

C. C. Craig, teacher of the 7th and 8th grades of the Hartville public school, was here yesterday having dental work done by Dr. F. H. Riley.

Rev. W. H. Anderson was here this week on account of his late yesterday, which was well attended. He and his family have gone to Sheldon to reside.

I have 6 fine thoroughbred Single Comb White Leghorn Roosters for sale at $2 apiece; hatched from eggs from the Poultry Experiment Station at Mountain Grove.—Mrs. J. N. Craig, Phone 135.—Adv.

All persons are forbidden to hunt, shoot, or trap upon the farms of J. M. THIRKIELD.
ROY D. HUGGANS
ROY D. WILLIAMS
MARY E. WILLIAMS
B. F. VEIT
Adv.

Wm. Newton and wife were given a surprise dinner Sunday, in honor of his 80th birthday anniversary. Mrs. Newton is 74. They have been married 56 years. They are pioneer residents of this section, coming to this community many years ago.

Fred Carnall, Ezra Dennis, R. Wright, Cecil Brazel, J. W. Brazel, C. E. Cathcart, E. C. Williams, Dora Woody, Prof. J. A. Hylton, Prof. Frank Hudson, F. A. Cole, Ralph Hylton, Earl Caudle visited the onyx cave near Macomb Sunday.

REMEMBER

* The first door east of the Bank of Mansfield is where you'll find The Real Bargain Store of Mansfield!

A new and up-to-date stock of

Groceries

Dry Goods Hosiery
Men's and Women's Underwear
Men's Wool Shirts
Fat Meat, Bacon, Etc.

Call and get our prices on General Merchandise before buying
H. M. NORCROSS
The new store in the old postoffice building, 1 door east of Bank of Mansfield Phone No. 70 for High-Class Service

Personal Paragraphs

James Davis has gone to Seymour.

G. W. Campbell of Macomb was here yesterday.

Howe Steele of Hartville was here this week.

Siria Odle of Cedar Gap was here this week.

J. A. Edwards was in Mountain Grove Tuesday.

Col. L. O. Nieder was at Birch Tree this week.

Miss Julia May Behan spent Sunday in Norwood.

Isaac Strong has been quite sick with heart trouble.

John Bonfanti, the Mountain Grove tailor, was here today.

W. A. Black and son Francis were in Macomb and Norwood Saturday.

J. W. Miller and wife have returned from a visit with relatives at Springfield.

J. J. Newberry of Cody, Neb., has been looking after business matters here.

A. J. Grantham went to Nevada Monday, returning Tuesday with Mrs. Grantham.

John T. Chastard of Lamar visited his daughter, Mrs. J. A. Edwards, and family last week.

G. W. Freeman, president of the Bank of Mansfield, has returned from his sojourn at Hot Springs, Ark.

W. S. Elrod, the Norwood insurance man, has returned home after taking medical treatment for some time at Springfield.

E. S. Truitt, a prominent real estate dealer of Kansas City, has been here this week to look after his 220-acre farm at Alwanda and hunt possums.

P. W. Newton, wife and daughters of Mansfield, and N. J. and M. W. Wilson and families of Hartville autoed to Mountain Grove Tuesday and visited the poultry station.

C. E. Cathcart and wife and Mrs. E. A. Sisk went to Mammoth Spring, Ark., this week, in company with Mrs. Cathcart's sister who was returning to her home in Mississippi, after a visit here.

Prof. W. H. Lynch, the veteran educator of Springfield, passed through here this morning en route to Houston, Cabool, Licking and Rolla. He will attend the South Central Missouri Teachers' Association at Rolla.

John Harvey attended the big Shriner's banquet at Springfield Monday night, at which about 500 were present. He made the trip from Mansfield to Springfield with Division Superintendent C. H. Baltzell of the Frisco, who passed through Mansfield Monday in his private car.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

School Notes

Visit school often.

Encourage your children to do their very best.

The high school glee club will give an entertainment Saturday, Dec. 4.

Attend the Parent Teacher Association Friday afternoon, Nov. 26.

Dr. R. M. Rogers will be glad to see the parents at assembly Monday morning.

We are very grateful to Mrs. J. A. Hylton and the other members of the W. O. T. U. for a supply of sanitary drinking cups.

The primary folks are preparing a Thanksgiving scene on their sand table to illustrate the story of the Pilgrims in New England.

The high school boys and a team from the Roy school will play a game of basket ball on the school grounds Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Nearly all the pupils in the fifth and sixth grades can tell a well connected story of the first Thanksgiving and the circumstances that gave rise to it.

The literary program in the high school department Friday was quite entertaining. The music was quite good and with a very few exceptions the program was one both interesting and instructive.

On the walls of the grammar grades may be seen a number of excellent drawings of scenes in the Legend of Sleepy Hollow. These have all been made by the pupils in their study of Irving's popular story.

Thursday, Dec. 16, Miss Victoria Lynn, a very popular entertainer, will give a program here in which the school is interested both for the pleasure it will give and the money we hope to raise by this means.

The second primary boys have their goals up and are putting in full time learning to play basket ball. The ground is rough but they play regardless of bumps and bruises—one of the things that good basket ball players have to learn to do.

Miss Osborn has arranged the girls in two squads for basket ball practice and each player is working for a place on the first team. We hope to secure match games with some of our neighboring schools soon.

Astronomy is the subject about which the high school students are looking up information in the dictionaries and other sources this week for opening exercises. The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

The agriculture class made a trip last week to the Rocky Hill farm owned by A. J. Wilder. The object was to study at first hand the legumes. They found plenty of red clover, white clover, sweet clover, and alfalfa to study and a fine lot of apples which Mr. Wilder had left ungathered because they were too high for him to reach.

The senior class is doing some very interesting work on Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Each student is securing all the pictures he can from magazines, catalogues and other sources and using the pictures to illustrate the poem. It is surprising how many pictures pupils can find and how appropriately they may be used.

Parents should have heard Dr. F. H. Riley's talk on the structure and care of the teeth Monday morning at the assembly period. He displayed several drawings that showed how the teeth are arranged and what causes them to decay. If parents would look more closely after their children's teeth the teachers would be saved much worry and the pupils would do much more satisfactory work.

The story of Art Smith, a very entertaining account of his struggles in winning his way to success as an aviator, is the latest addition to our library. The author of the book, Rose Wilder Lane, was once a student in the Mansfield high school and we appreciate most highly this autograph copy of her latest work. Not many schools can boast of a book written by a former pupil who has secured a permanent place in the literary world in a few years after leaving school.

The list of questions is found in a little book supplied by the Merriam Publishing Co.

Thanksgiving Proclamation

Whereas, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, and Elliott W. Major, Governor of Missouri, have issued proclamations relative to Thursday, November 25, 1915, as Thanksgiving Day for the nation and state, now Therefore, I, F. H. Riley, Mayor of the City of Mansfield, do hereby request all citizens of Mansfield to observe the day in accordance with the spirit of such proclamations, all business houses closing in the afternoon of said day.

F. H. RILEY, Mayor.

Union Memorial Thanksgiving Service

On Sunday, November 21, a Union Memorial Thanksgiving Service will be held at the Mansfield Opera House at 11 o'clock, with an appropriate sermon by Rev. J. W. Needham. All churches and citizens are invited to participate. A special musical program will be given in connection with the service, the choir being in charge of J. W. Brazel, who desires all singers to meet for practice Friday night.

Program

Prayer	Rev. Joseph Davis
Song	Choir
Selection	C. P. Orchestra
Thanksgiving Anthem	Mansfield Glee Club
Selection	C. P. Orchestra
Song	High School Quartet
Solo	Choir
Solo, "O, Eyes That Are Weary,"	Mrs. J. E. Craig
Thanksgiving Sermon	Rev. J. W. Needham
Song	Choir
Offering	To Defray Necessary Expenses
Benediction	J. H. P. Pool

The rostrum will be appropriately decorated

Notice
Taxes due again and should be paid before Jan. 1. Drop in and pay them when convenient and save a trip to Hartville. I have the Official Tax List.
Adv. WARD B. HITCHCOCK.

Hills and Mountain
We are having some beautiful weather.
Mr. Roberts and son Perry are on the sick list.
Sunday school at No. 5 every Sunday at 2:30 p. m.
Homer Estus and wife returned from Kansas last week.
Mr. Mills and family visited at Sam Newton's Sunday.
Singing at Mount Pleasant every Saturday night. Everybody come.
The revival meeting at Mount Pleasant will begin next Sunday morning.
Misses Cjella and Della Gaskill called on Misses Eulalia and Lela Tripp Sunday.
GIBBS.

Money to Loan
N. J. CRAIG HAS SOME MONEY THAT HE DESIRES TO LOAN ON GOOD IMPROVED FARMS IN EITHER WRIGHT OR DOUGLAS COUNTIES. N. J. CRAIG